Press Release – Lab Bits to shut down

Friday, 8th June 2017

It has been decided with some sadness at Starjammer to shut the Lab Bits website down as of midnight tonight.

Lab Bits was designed to be an online resource for sourcing laboratory components and nearly new equipment, while at the same time raising money for the Great Ormond Street Children's hospital by means of donating 10% of our net profits to this good cause.

Due to various concerns within the industry, the way in which educational establishments operate, and after long consultations with our partners and associates on the overall viability of the venture, we reluctantly decided that it was logical in terms of both the long term view and the nature of the logistical problems that the educational and research spheres face on the practical front to close the operation down.

Starjammer Scientific, its parent company will still continue to operate as a research and development resource for its clients.

We would like to extend a heartfelt thank you to the people who took interest and time to subscribe to the site, the students, researchers, suppliers and educators that made the project in this respect worthwhile.

For all enquiries, please contact us via media.office@starjammer-group.com, myself or Cheryl Dyer-Ballard at the Starjammer Group. We look forward to hearing from you.
